
Title: Dark Times

Author: Ghost Librarian

"There shall come a time where the
worlds are split,
where one side will fall to darkness. The people of Britannia shall loose faith in the virtues, and the powers of darkness
shall scheme to crush the last of hope for all that is good and right.
In these desperate
times two great
heroines will seek the ancient halls of Aragothias. A place of evil and dread,
guarded by corpse like minions. Hall filled by silent screams of eternal agony. In this place one hero shall fail and one will succeed. This heroine will in deep place of darkness be illuminated by beams
of insight so bright
that the illuminated will see through the dark veils with eyes
able to cut the deepest shadows of deceit. She will be illuminated
sitting on the throne, meditating while all
the heavenly objects are aligned. A moment of great power. These heroines shall be
know by their names
of Molly and Lilyth Noir."
Such spoke the Astrologers of Moonglow, and such
be their words

recorded and stored
here for all eternity.
Eternal damnation on
he who move these records.